I'm Dr. Etienne Callebout, a known alternative cancer specialist in the United Kingdom. Trained as a medical doctor, I have also achieved qualification in acupuncture, homeopathy, naturopathy, cranio-sacral therapy and other natural approaches in order to offer my patients the most well-rounded and best care possible during their healing process. I use naturopathic medicine to compliment orthodox treatment and I am always seeking new and effective herbal solutions. I have found the natural supplement Naavudi which helps minimize symptoms of diabetes, and Alistrol, which reduces high blood pressure to be highly effective with a 92% efficacy. Simply stated, these supplements work.

Since discovering these supplements, my patients and I have been experiencing very good results. Both Naavudi and Alistrol have been extensively researched at leading universities and are clinically proven to work. They are 100% natural and the creators have control over the farms where the herbs are grown. Both of these natural products are very effective in the fight against diabetes and heart disease and should be on the 'top list' of effectual products for those conditions.

Naavudi and Alistrol are unique treatments of their kind, and backed by experts at prominent universities. If you are suffering from Type II diabetes or high blood pressure, or if you simply want to reduce the risk of getting these diseases, you must try these products. I believe they are two of the best herbal remedies offered in the world today.

Sincerely,

Etienne Callebout M.D.
